

SHABD: Terms and Conditions of use

By signing up for the Prasar Bharati SHABD service, you, as a news and media organisation, agree to the following terms and conditions:

Registration Process:

- You must register for the service by filling out the provided form on the SHABD website.
- Registration is complete only upon agreement to the listed terms of use.

Content Usage:

- Upon registration, you must specify the the title of the media organisation on which you intend to use the content.

Separate Registration for Sister Concerns or Partners:

- Sister concerns or partner organisations must register separately for the SHABD service.

Content Sharing:

- You are free to share or forward web links or URLs of the SHABD content you have published to your viewers and readers.
- Such content must contain the signature of your media entity in the form of a logo or watermark.

Exceptions and Prohibitions:

- You are prohibited from editing or changing the context of the SHABD content or from combining the content with news stories, features, analysis, interviews, or discussion programs in a manner that distorts the original context.
- Use of the content to troll, defame, or malign any person or organisation is prohibited.
- Any use with the intent to commit fraud, deride the country and its institutions, or create a law and order situation is strictly prohibited.
- Use of morphing and voice cloning technologies over the content is prohibited.
- Misquoting (or misrepresentation) of the content, in whole or in part, is not allowed.

Responsibility and Violations:

- You are responsible for any violations of the terms and conditions and may face prosecution under applicable laws.
- Violators may be stripped of their service rights.

Date and Time Stamping:

- All content provided under the SHABD service come with date and time stamped on it. It is a violation to remove or mask this information.
- By registering for the SHABD service, you acknowledge and accept these terms and conditions, committing to the responsible and ethical use of the shared content.

Note: Prasar Bharati reserves the right to amend these terms and conditions with prior notice.

I agree to adhere to the terms and conditions mentioned above.